

Mikhail Atayev

Junior Full Stack Software Developer

Email: m.ataev@mail.ru | LinkedIn | GitHub

Summary

I am a Junior Full Stack Developer specializing in both front-end and back-end development. I have experience working with programming languages such as HTML, CSS, JavaScript, C# and Python, as well as popular frameworks like Flask, Django, React and Angular. I am proficient in database management with MySQL and PostgreSQL, and familiar with version control systems like Git and GitHub. I have also experience with CMS like Wordpress and Opencart. My portfolio includes the development of interactive web applications and e-commerce platforms, where I apply my technical skills to solve real-world problems.

In addition to my technical abilities, I am a highly responsible and detail-oriented individual who takes pride in my work. I have developed strong collaborative skills, thriving in team environments where I can contribute to shared goals and ensure quality outcomes.

Throughout my career in the Migration Agency and Insurance Fund, I have developed strong analytical skills and attention to detail, which have proven valuable in my programming work. I am continuously learning and expanding my skill set, currently focusing on technologies like Laravel and Vue, to broaden my capabilities as a developer.

I am looking for new opportunities where I can apply my skills to build modern web applications and collaborate with cross-functional teams. I hope to have the opportunity to attend an interview with you and tell you more about what I want and can do!

Regards,

Mikhail Atayev